But Wait, There's More.

July 14, 2003

In other B.O.S. Better On-Line Solutions news, the company announced it has hired a new chairman, will implement a cost-reduction plan, and has complied with the Nasdaq stock market's listing requirements. In late June, Edouard Cukierman was appointed as chairman of the Teradyon, Israel, company, replacing Zvi Greengold, who remains with the company as chairman of the Boscom Ltd. subsidiary. The company is also reducing R&D and marketing expenses, closing offices, renegotiating supplier agreements, and cutting salaries in an attempt to save $1.2 million through December. "We have resolved to turn the company profitable by the end of 2003, by focusing on the marketing of our connectivity and IP products on the one hand and reducing costs on the other hand," Cukierman says. Cukierman is chief executive of the Catalyst Fund, BOS's largest shareholder, and sits on the boards of several other companies.
